

NYC Health + Hospitals hospitalization deaths post-release* from the City's custody

\ Deaths that occur within 30 days of discharge from the City's custody*

- In the time period March 2020 through March 2021, seven patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay. Five of these patients died due to COVID.
- In April 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In May 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In June 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In July 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In August 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In September 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In October 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In November 2021, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In December 2021, one patient who was released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In January 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In February 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In March 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In April 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In May 2022, one patient who was released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In June 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In July 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.

- In August 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In September 2022, one patient who was released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In October 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.
- In November 2022, no patients who were released from DOC custody during an inpatient stay at an NYC Health + Hospitals acute care facility died during that same inpatient stay.

Please note: Data have been updated to account for a post-release death not identified in prior analyses.